

Our service offer

Products – High range of diverse applications

You need products and applications or you have special customer requirements for operation in your aircraft? Your areas of application require manufactured installation KIT`s? SPAES provides you with complete aviation products and systems and also designs, certifies and produces new products according to your requirements.

Aviation – Your safety is important to us

Are the operation requirements of your aircrafts changed? Are modification measures or adjustments for your aircrafts necessary? You need technical support for practical tasks in aviation? You need technicians and engineers for installation of systems in your aircraft? We design, certify and integrate changes and repairs on helicopters and airplanes especially for aviation requirements. From single component installation to a complete cockpit and cabin modification, from you or our technician, we implement your specifications with the EASA approval.

Engineering – Tailormade development projects

You need specific know-how and assistance in realizing your customers' requirements? Are your complete engineering projects to be implemented? SPAES supports you in realizing complete engineering projects or performs Minor Changes and STC's for you. For your requirements, we are well equipped with our engineering and specialist's team as well as our long-term experience in design and approval in the field of avionics, electrical systems, structure and cabin interior.

Training – Always one step ahead with SPAES

Is training or refreshment of existing know-how for your employees necessary? Do you need consulting and support from expert for the extension of your offer? Or for the approval for an aviation companies? Our portfolio includes furthermore trainings for design- and compliance verification engineers as well as for aviation personnel. We offer trainings in small groups, if necessary, also individual trainings. Adjusted to your goals and needs, we support you with the professional qualification in aviation.

Cooperation – Achieve more together

You want to market an aviation product or services worldwide? You are looking for a competent partner in realizing your ideas? Then you are right with SPAES. We want to become more successful with you and heighten large projects together. We present your and our products on a platform for optimal coverage and market penetration. Our range of services includes professional marketing and public relations.

Our competence – Realizing professionally your projects with passion

Your projects are important to us and we implement it professionally with our long term know-how and experience. Our strength is the realization of technically-challenging plans with a high degree of customer satisfaction.